

How to Access Stevenson University's Virtual Information Session through Blue Jeans

1. You can access SU's virtual information session through a web browser on your computer – you do not need to have the software installed in order to view. If you would like to access the information session through your phone, you will need to download the Blue Jeans app (free on IOS and Android). You will not need to make an account. As a recommendation, we suggest downloading the application either to your computer or your phone. In our experience, the platform works more smoothly with the application. We also suggest that you test the Blue Jeans platform before the live session to ensure that you're comfortable navigating the platform.
2. . Your audio and video will be muted upon entry into the meeting by the presenter– that way you do not need to worry about any background noise.
3. If you have questions during the presentation, you can utilize the Chat or Direct Message function (found at the right-hand side of the screen, click "Chat" to enter questions, or "Direct Message" to Direct Message the presenter). Questions will be answered periodically throughout the presentation and at the end.
4. If you need to leave the information session at any time, you can do so by clicking the phone icon in the top center (next to the audio/video mute buttons).
