

Stevenson Faculty & Staff,

As an update to today's email regarding Governor Larry Hogan May 13th order for a limited opening of the state's economy, Baltimore County Executive Johnny Olszewski has announced the continuation of the stay-at-home order, health and hygiene measures, and other restrictions for the county. Details can be found at the following site:

<https://www.baltimorecountymd.gov/News/BaltimoreCountyNow/county-executive-olszewski-announces-actions-to-promote-public-health-following-state-announcement>

As stated in the earlier email, there are no material changes in our operations at Stevenson. Remote work measures remain in place for all Stevenson employees except essential employees who are permitted on our campuses. All health and hygiene measures remain in place, including the required use of face coverings at Stevenson.

--John Buettner
Vice President, Marketing & Digital Communications