2. Federal Direct Student Loans

The Federal Direct student loan application process requires a student to complete their Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) first. Once the financial aid office has processed your financial aid offer, you must accept, reduce, or decline your loans online through Self-Service. If you accept you must complete the Loan Entrance Counseling, and a Master Promissory Note (MPN) to receive a loan. 3. State Awards

If you are offered funds from a State of Maryland program, be sure to respond to their instructions or you will not receive those funds. The State offers an on-line inquiry system that allows students to view the status of their financial aid application and/or scholarship and grant information. You can access this feature at mdcaps.mhec.state.md.us. If you have an award from another state, be sure you follow their instructions to ensure that you actually receive the funds.
